Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 29 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudy and cool in the southeast. Sunnier and warmer elsewhere.

This Evening and Tonight:
Many areas dry with some clear spells mainly in the west. Cloudy around north and east coasts with some drizzle in places. Some outbreaks of rain continuing in east and southeast England. Becoming breezy around exposed coasts.

Wednesday:
Showery rain in southeast slowly fading. Cloud in east breaking up, feeling cool here with brisk winds. Western parts warmer with good sunny spells but isolated heavy showers in southwest.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Apart from the odd shower, most places should be fine on Thursday and Friday with some warm sunshine. Rain or showers spread from the southwest Saturday, some of these heavy.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.